Haiti Rebuilding Initiative

To whom it may concern:

Faie and I are directors of Haiti Mission, Inc., domiciled in Gray, Louisiana. We have been working in Haiti for ten years now. We have a great deal of experience with the situation prior to this horrific earthquake of January 12th and have some specific recommendations which we feel could greatly advance and aid the rebuilding efforts.

Our mission work has been focused in a few villages outside of Jeremie, Haiti – about one hundred miles west of Port-au-Prince.

Jeremie has a functional port but it currently is silted in. The channel and wharf are too shallow for relief vessels to dock and unload. If it were dredged, it would allow ships to use Jeremie as a primary and alternate unloading site so that aid could be delivered directly to this very important evacuation center for the Haitian refugees.

Haiti Mission is promoting this initiative. The port of Jeremie is a key to the rebuilding of Haiti. We hope you can help us facilitate this process.
